FRANCO-GERMAN UNIVERSITY

The Franco-German University (FGU) is a network of 500 institutions in France, Germany, and worldwide that strive to facilitate the mobility of students and researchers. Students completing the Double Degree program with HEC Paris and receive two nationally recognized degree qualifications of equal value in addition to the FGU certificate.

Students can take part in an online language course offered free by the FGU and prepare themselves for looking for work on the international market by taking intercultural training courses for job applicants. Please find further information here concerning the FGU. You will be informed by the TUM School of Management International Office about all details for the FGU grant as soon as you are nominated for the Double Degree Program with the HEC.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

After two successfully completed semesters of the MMT courses at the TUM School of Management, Double Degree Students will study in the second year of the Master in Management at HEC Paris. The stay abroad begins in September and ends in March of the following year.

TUM students receive 40 ECTS for successfully completing the HEC Paris program (M2 Specialization Phase of the Master in Management), of which at least 30 ECTS credits will be recognized for your TUM degree unless there is a substantial difference in the learning outcomes.

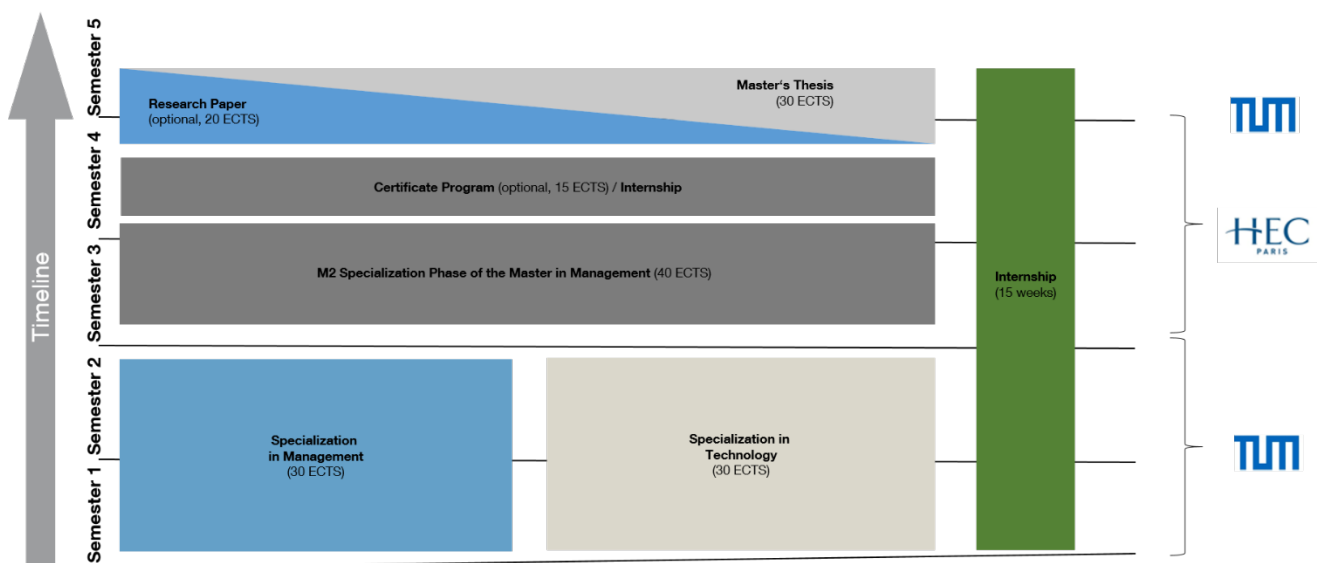

Furthermore, Double Degree Students from TUM School of Management must complete 15 weeks of a qualified internship. Students are encouraged to undertake the internship in France, but it may also be possible in any other country. Previous experience may be recognized towards this obligation unless the concerned Double Degree Student has conducted such previous experience before completing their Bachelor's studies.

Additionally, Double Degree Students from TUM School of Management can also apply, in addition to the Master in Management, for participation in the HEC Paris certificate programs, which take place from April to June. A certificate program contains 100 hours of fieldwork, courses, and business projects and supports you in building a professional network. For successfully completing the certificate programs Double Degree Students can acquire a total of 15 ECTS credits, which are not transferable.

After their studies at HEC Paris, Double Degree Students from TUM School of Management must return to TUM in order to write their Master's Thesis. This Master's Thesis weight 30 ECTS credits, of which 20 ECTS credits will be accredited as research paper within HEC Paris Master in Management. Double Degree Students may decide to combine the Master's Thesis at TUM with the research paper at HEC Paris, i.e. they can start with a research paper at HEC Paris and elaborate on the topic of the latter within their Master's Thesis at TUM. Such combination is subject to prior approval from both HEC Paris and TUM examiners who will cooperate through the whole research and drafting process. The general program of studies must be approved in advance by both institutions for each student enrolled.

In order to achieve both qualifications, at least 60 ECTS must be acquired at HEC Paris together with the requirements of the studies course MMT and a 15-week internship carried out after the award of the Bachelor's degree.

During the time at HEC, no tuition fees are payable to HEC. Please note, however, that an annual administrative fee of about € 950 (status in August 2025) is due for payment. This is levied for infrastructure costs (e.g., careers service, IT, sport, etc.).
